- Suggested Itinerary -

Day 1 - London To Berlin

This morning, board a late-morning Eurostar to Brussels. Here, you hop across the platform onto a German ICE train to Cologne, in the shadow of the famous cathedral. Then take your final German ICE train across to Berlin, perhaps taking a visit to the restaurant car for dinner. On arrival, you will be met by a car and driver, who will take you straight to the Adlon Kempinski Berlin (or similar) for 2 nights.

Day 2 - Berlin

You have the best part of two days to enjoy Berlin to the full. Explore its best-known sights including the Brandenburg Gate, the TV Tower, the Reichstag (German parliament), the Tiergarten park and the Berlin Wall Memorial. Take in the excellent German History Museum, and the DDR Museum, which chronicles life in East Germany. Spend the evenings in the many bars and restaurants around Hackescher Markt, the glitzy Kurfurstendamm or head out to the popular suburbs of Prenzlauer Berg, Friedrichshain or Kreuzberg. Ask our team for more recommendations!

Day 3 - Berlin To Prague (via The Elbe Valley)

Depart this morning on a EuroCity train running south through the former East Germany, stopping briefly in Dresden, dubbed the Florence of the Elbe. After Dresden, the scenery hots up along the Elbe Valley, through what is known as 'Saxon Switzerland'. Don't miss a visit to the excellent restaurant car. On arrival in Prague's main station, you will be met by a driver who will transport you to the Hotel Aria (or similar), home for the next 2 nights.

Day 4 - Prague

Enjoy exploring one of Europe's most popular capitals. Stroll through the Old Town in the morning to beat the tourist rush. Cross the Charles Bridge and take an energetic walk up to the famous castle and treat yourself to a drink and hearty Czech meal alongside the Vltava River. An unmissable museum is the Franz Kafka Museum, a fascinating insight into the complex mind of one of Prague's most famous sons. Wenceslas Square also evokes memories of the 1968 Prague Spring and today contains a range of shops, bars and entertainments.

Day 5 - Prague To Vienna

Board your first of three RailJets of your holiday. These are modern, sleek units operated by Austrian Railways, and this particular one will be transporting you from the heart of Prague to the heart of Vienna. Relax in your Business Class seat, a form of "super-first" class, as you twist and turn through the hills of Bohemia and into the gentle topography of northern Austria. A restaurant car is available, so you can choose to mosey along to the restaurant, or order food and drink to be served to your seat (both options payable on board). Upon arrival at Vienna's shiny Hauptbahnhof (main station) you will be met and chauffeured to your hotel, the Sans Souci Hotel (or similar) for a 2-night stay.

Day 6 - Vienna

Enjoy a full day in the regal Austrian capital, Vienna today and take time to appreciate its full year-round splendour. Head to Ringstrasse to admire the endless stunning architecture, epitomised by the State Opera House. Stop for Sacher Torte in the famous hotel of the same name, and be sure to visit the impressive St Stephen's Cathedral in the heart of town. For some rest and relaxation, head to the famous Prater Park with its ferris wheel, next to the Danube.

Day 7 - Vienna To Budapest

The relatively short journey from Vienna to Budapest is covered in around 3 hours on an Austrian Railways (OBB) RailJet train. Relax into your luxurious Business Class seat as you race across the plains of eastern Austria, then through the west of Hungary before arriving into the magnificent Budapest Keleti station. On arrival, your private meet-and-greet transfer will ferry you to the Corinthia Hotel (or similar) for a 2-night stay.

Day 8 - Budapest

Spend your time exploring all that Budapest has to offer. Don't miss the glorious Hungarian parliament on the banks of the Danube and take a selfie or two next to the famous Chain Bridge. Heroes' Square contains monuments to great Hungarians past and present, and Fisherman's Bastion provides unrivalled city views from up on the Buda Hills. Unwind with a bathe in the various thermal spas that are dotted around the city, and head out for a hearty goulash with paprika, washed down by a glass or two of fabulous Tokay wine.

Day 9 - Budapest To Salzburg

Board another sleek Austrian RailJet train at Budapest Keleti station today for the direct journey to Salzburg. The journey is likely to run across lunchtime, so why not order a delicious goulash from the on-board restaurant to be served at your seats? On arrival in Salzburg, you are met at the station and taken to your hotel, the Radisson Blu Altstadt (or similar), your home for the next 2 nights.

Day 10 - Salzburg

Located on the River Salzach, the town of Salzburg is famous its musical links to W. A. Mozart who was born here, and to the Rogers & Hammerstein musical The Sound of Music. If you are a fan of either, then there are plenty of attractions and tours to entertain you. Elsewhere, you can also enjoy exploring the old town and visiting the hilltop castle.?

Day 11 - Salzburg To Frankfurt

Board a mid-morning civilised-timed EuroCity train that takes you immediately across the border into Germany, stopping at the busy Munich Hbf and the north through the German countryside to Frankfurt. On arrival in Frankfurt, you step outside the station and straight into the Steigenberger Metropolitan (or similar) for an overnight stay. Head out and have a look around Frankfurt, Europe's banking capital and much more besides.

Day 12 - Frankfurt To London

Take a civilised mid-morning German ICE train after breakfast, heading to one of the main Eurostar hubs at Brussels. Here, you have ample time to change onto your afternoon Eurostar service back to London, which will be in Standard Premier, so a light meal and drinks will be served to your seat on a complimentary basis.
